McGoorty Plans Three Fights— Coulon to Go East.

Eddie McGoorty began training today at O'Connell's for a six-round go with Frank Klaus in Pittsburgh a week from tonight. Three days later the Oshkosh man will take on Leo Houck in Boston, and June 13 he is billed for a tussle with Jimmy Clabby in Butte, Mont. McGoorty has mapped out an ambitious program, and if he comes through with a good record should be matched with Klaus over a long distance to settle the much-disputed middleweight title.

Johnny Coulon's bout with Charley Goldman at Boston has been called off and the bantam champ will leave for New York shortly to pick up a few fights. The Logan Square pride wants a ten-round match with Kid Williams of Baltimore in the East before going over the derby route in California.

Eddie Murphy, the Boston battler who meets Jack Britton in Kenosha Tuesday night, reached Chicago this morning, and started training at the O'Connell gymnasium. Britton will not arrive until tomorrow. The North Side lightweight does not need much training for the go, as his frequent mills keep him in condition.

Freddy Welsh, English lightweight champion, made a mess of Jack Redmond in Winnipeg. Welsh forced the fighting in every one of the twelve rounds and in the last had Redmond hanging on to escape a knockout.
